

Kaushik Chowdhury

PERSONAL STATEMENT

I am a dedicated and diligent individual holding a Post Graduate Degree in Law. I am currently serving as an Assistant Professor (Law) at LJD Law College, Tollygunge Campus affiliated to University of Calcutta, Kolkata. Previously I had served as an Assistant Professor of Law at Brainware University, Barasat.

I am also pursuing Ph.D in Law from Rajiv Gandhi School of Intellectual Property Law, Indian Institute of Technology, Kharagpur (IIT KGP).

I am a committed and capable person in constant quest for knowledge & wisdom with an indomitable spirit for enquiry and research.

I have a modest number of publications of articles in peer reviewed journals and book chapters in edited books of repute with ISBN to my credit (including recent publication in an edited book by HP Hamilton, London released by Shoolini University, Solan, Himachal Pradesh) which are based primarily on doctrinal research on diverse socio-legal issues in various Student Law Reviews and Journals and books of National Law Universities and other Institutes. I have also made some confident paper presentations in several National Law Universities of India and other universities on various relevant issues having a socio-legal thrust.

CAREER OBJECTIVES

- Intending to build a long-term career as an Assistant Professor in an institution that offers reasonable opportunities for continuous experiential growth coupled with conducive environment for development of core professional competencies through periodic exposure to cutting edge teaching methodologies and technologies and advanced learning methods and strategies.
- Providing quality education to students for their holistic development.
